

within the margin

—
Truong Tran

Apogee Press
Berkeley · California
2004

there are the words

margin

because

dare i say fuck

a boy a six year old boy concocts a scheme he learns to lie on this day the boy discovers he discovers the truth he turns up the volume on the tv set the fantastic four vs dr doom doom is of course doomed to fail he pretends to be watching in the living room on this day his story begins because sometimes language is not about meaning music for example take the word fuck float it between your lips a student in a classroom once said to him can you explain why you choose to use this word if you want my opinion it cheapens the writing it's too easy a word the boy is standing at the crosswalk shifting his weight from one foot to the other he is waiting for the light red to green means stop to go because he to this day still relates to comic books not the hero with the super strength x-ray vision the man child who ignites by simply